WHO WE ARE

FHI 360 is a nonprofit human development organization dedicated to improving lives in lasting ways by advancing integrated, locally driven solutions. Our staff includes experts in health, education, nutrition, environment, economic development, civil society, gender, youth, research, technology, communication and social marketing – creating a unique mix of capabilities to address today’s interrelated development challenges. FHI 360 serves more than 70 countries and all U.S. states and territories. We are a leader in designing university partnerships that build institutional capacity, promote professional skills development, and facilitate global collaboration.

WHAT WE DO

Our programs bridge academic curricula and research to market relevant opportunities within both the private and public sectors, optimizing impacts on workforce development. Institutions and individuals make valuable global contacts and establish enduring relationships that increase access to critical knowledge. Partnership participants gain respect for other cultures’ society and values through sustained relationships that transcend national borders.

BENEFITS OF PARTNERSHIPS

FHI 360’s approach to partnership management allows university partnership institutions and faculty to focus on the technical aspects of program implementation by providing a formalized framework for implementation. Our research-based methods involve formative monitoring efforts and flexible program design to allow responsive modifications to program activities, maximizing impact. FHI 360 program staff facilitate effective communication among partnership stakeholders to ensure cohesion on program-related efforts.
